With more than a decade in the game, I've got the web development scene down, rocking ReactJS and Node.js since 2020.
I quickly pick up new skills, relying on determination, intellect, Google, and AI. I'm great at handling all the nitty-gritty details in UX/UI and staying in the loop with the latest industry trends.

I have knowledge in technical concepts, system architecture, programming methods, and more, which helps me complete projects quickly and offer strong solutions. I'm also comfortable working in international environments and have excellent English skills for effective business communication.
